GCCR-DEI Committee Survey

The GCCR consortium is focused on stimulating collaborative open access global studies on the olfactory and gustatory senses. An integral part of building a global research consortium is to enhance and maintain diversity, equity, and inclusion (DEI). The GCCR DEI Committee and Leadership aim to foster an inclusive and equitable environment to all researchers who want to participate in GCCR activities and research, especially members from underrepresented groups. The first step is to identify obstacles to participation and pathways to remove them, so that we can foster diverse, equitable, and inclusive participation. This survey is one of three approaches we taking to gather data on member satisfaction and specific hurdles they might face in participating fully in the GCCR. We are also analyzing Slack traffic and have created the GCCR Slack Channel 'Inclusivity_Feedback_Forum'.

Thank you for participating in this survey! We estimate it will take approximately 10-20 minutes and is completely anonymous and confidential. Your participation in the survey is completely voluntary and you may stop at any point or skip questions that you do not wish to answer. You will be given a chance to provide your email address if you would like to be contacted for follow-up questions and/or would like to be included in research networks. Your email address will not be associated with the survey answers you submit.
